

Police honor community leaders

MICHAEL J. MULLEN / STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Scranton's police department recently recognized several community leaders and civic organizations for their support of the department. "The individuals and organizations recognized ... represent the very best our community has to offer," said Chief David Elliott. From left are Ray Hayes, city public safety director; Andrew Wascura, DeNaples Transportation;

Bart Burne, Lackawanna College; Joseph Ross, Marywood University; Richard Rossi, Penn Security Bank; and Chief Elliott. Also getting awards were Louis DeNaples, Keystone Landfill; Sister Mary Reap, I.H.M., Marywood University; Robert McTiernan, Scranton High School, and Madonna Savage, University of Scranton.